December 27, 1747, and died Unknown.

Notes for JOHN BERRY, SR.:

Machias was the site of the skirmish recognized as the first Naval engagement of the Revolutionary War. During this battle, John Berry was a member of the attacking parties that stormed and captured the British frigate Margueritta in the early summer of 1775. During the skirmish, John Berry was shot in the mouth and the bullet exited the side of his neck. He survived and received a pension as a result of his participation.

The battle to take the Margueritta was the result of spontaneous reactions -- some would say mob actions -- to threats made upon the town of Machias by the British frigate Margueritta. The battle fever of the participants was fueled by recent news of the skirmishes around Boston that essentially started the Revolutionary War against Britain.
